NEW INDUSTRY LAUNCHED

A new and substantial industry which, it is stated, will furnish employment to over two score of people during the canning season, has just been launched by a veteran in the Canning industry, Mr. Edward Todd in association with his son and other interested citizens of the town. As it will furnish another market for the products of the fruit and vegetable growers of the district, it will be welcomed by those engaged in fruit growing throughout the surrounding community, large acreages of beans and tomatoes already having been contracted for, while later on contracts for fruits will also be entered into.

The long experience of Mr. Todd, in the Canning industry and the excellent quality of the vegetables and fruits available, is assurance that the product turned out will measure up to a high standard and there is every reason to believe that the new enterprise will be attended with success. The fact that the industry will utilize the products of this fine fruit district will serve to make it all the more welcome.

CARING FOR CEMETERIES

In order to ensure that cemeteries are well kept and make a presentable appearance, an increasing number of communities are adopting the perpetual care plan, under which cemetery plots are given constant attention.

The town of Grimsby some time ago adopted this progressive policy and it has been meeting with general favor, evidenced by the fact that many owners of plots have taken them on the perpetual care plan. The cemetery committee reports that another $500 has been paid in since the first of the year, bringing the amount of the fund for perpetual care to the substantial sum of $3,000.

As one travels through the province one comes upon cemeteries which indicate that they are not receiving the care they should, in strong contrast to others which give evidence of having had attention and are a credit to the municipalities.

It is pleasing to note that the municipality of Grimsby has seen fit to put the perpetual care plan into effect here, as it is working out most satisfactorily in this, as well as in other communities in which it has been adopted.

DISCOVER NEW SOURCE OF SUPPLY

From time to time it has been found that when a shortage threatens in connection with a commodity in general use, inventors and scientists, by applying themselves to the task, almost invariably discover a new source from which to secure it.

This has been the case with reference to the world's rubber supply and the prediction of a famine in that indispensable product. Among those who applied themselves to the task was the world famous inventor, Thomas Edison, who, with characteristic industry, retired to his laboratory in Florida and after experimenting with plants returned to inform the world that there are 1,400 plants in the United States of America that will yield rubber, and among the most productive of these is also one of the most common and easily grown, the golden rod that flourishes by every wayside.

This is but another illustration of the fact that the threatened extinction of some important commodity leads to the discovery of a new source of supply. After all, little is known of the possibilities and potential usefulness of the common things about us until some vital circumstance arises which discloses their value.

NEW MINING REGULATIONS

The Federal Department of the Interior recently enacted new regulations to foster the interests of the mining industry and the public, and mining rules have been revised with this end in view. They were drafted by the Minister of the Interior, Hon. Charles Stewart, and have been passed by order-in-council. They attest the vigilant interest exercised in this respect by government supervision, and bring the new regulations abreast of present conditions.

The new regulations provide that every person and organization engaged in mining activity on Dominion lands must hold a miner's certificate. Such a certificate entitles the holder to stake and record three claims for himself and three claims for each two other licensees or nine claims in all (a total of about 450 acres) in each mining division. In the Northwest Territories double this number—that is to say, eighteen claims—may be staked and recorded. All claims must be marked by four legal posts and as soon after as reasonably possible, metal tags supplied by the department of the interior must be attached to the posts.

Before a lease can be issued to a licensee, two hundred days work must be done on the claim during a period of five years or less. Provision is also made so that if desirable, improvement work may be started as soon as the legal posts are in place. At least forty days' work must be done in each year. When two hundred days' work has been performed, the claim surveyed, discovery established, certain other requirements complied with and accepted, the recorded owner will be entitled to obtain a certificate for improvements and upon payment within three months of the rental and fee, he will be entitled to a lease for a period of twenty-one years, without further payment of rental. Renewal for an additional period of like duration is subject to rental.

The new regulations governing the collection of royalty require that payment be made on the profits of the mine in excess of $10,000 during any calendar year. This royalty is fixed at three per cent. of the annual profits over $10,000 and up to $1,000,000; five per cent. of the excess over $1,000,000 and up to $5,000,000.

PROTECTING BIRD LIFE

That widely known lover of bird life, Jack Miner, who has exemplified his love of his feathered friends by supporting a bird sanctuary at his home near Kingsville for many years, finds that he requires assistance in the task as he has not sufficient funds to enable him to go on perpetually feeding the growing number of birds that are attracted to his bird sanctuary. He has therefore asked the Dominion government to grant him $5,000 a year for the express purpose of caring for the birds that find their way to Kingsville for food during the spring migrations. He himself has spent thousands of dollars each year in feeding and caring for his feathered friends, but through lack of funds, is unable to longer do so without aid.

The request of Jack Miner is assuredly worthy of early consideration by the government, and many will agree with the sentiments expressed by a writer in a current issue of the New Outlook, when he says:

"We do not know just what the government will do in the matter, but we would suggest that as already there is no hunting allowed within one mile of Jack's place, it would be a good thing to pension Jack, and take over the farm and make it a national sanctuary or a provincial one, and place it in charge of Jack and his descendants so long as they desire to take care of it. And, more than that, we would like Jack to have the privilege of naming other places throughout the province which shall be treated similarly. Jack is a citizen of whom Canada and Ontario have the best reason to be proud, and we say so now while he is alive; and his best monument would be the preservation of the present sanctuary and similar ones throughout the province. And we are well able to do it. It should be a matter of rivalry between the province and the Dominion to see which should have the honor of taking this most laudable action."

COMPLETE HUDSON BAY ROAD

The completion, the other day, of the Hudson Bay road into Fort Churchill as The Globe emphasizes, marks an imposing milestone in a venture which, it is hoped, will measure up to the expectations of its promoters. If it does it will change the route of shipping valued at tens of millions of dollars annually, save a fortune each year for Western agriculturists, affect the business of the United States as well as the Canadian railways, and for several months in the year cut more than 1,000 miles off the distance between Europe and the Pacific.

Commenting further on the undertaking, this publication says:

"The Hudson Bay Railway is being built to meet the demand of the Prairie Provinces. Their faith in its potentialities has not wavered since it was first proposed, but to the rest of the country the large expenditure involved has yet to be justified. There is no doubt that its justification will be welcomed, for if additional prosperity is thereby brought to the West, the entire country will be better off. Its success would give a new impetus to settlement, both agricultural and industrial, and as a shortening of the route between Europe and the Orient would add importance to a territory awaiting opening up.

"There is also the possibility of the road serving the country well by clearing the way to mineral and agricultural development in tributary territory, as the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway has done in this province. Its route traverses an area highly mineralized, while the Department of the Interior points out that potential agricultural land may be found in Manitoba as far north as the fifty-seventh parallel, and even beyond. This is seven degrees farther north than is Churchill, while along a portion of the route covered are areas which can be turned into agricultural use. The Hudson Bay Railway, therefore, has two chances at least to pay its way through service, although its possibilities as a grain carrier, if they materialize, will greatly outweigh the other."

The announcement is made by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada that included in a big extension program planned between now and 1933, is an expenditure of $4,411,000 on the company's service in Hamilton.

Expenditures will also be made in the following places: Burlington, $56,400; Dundas, $57,100; Guelph, $411,000; Galt, $279,000; Brantford, $590,000; Kitchener, $597,000.

SECURE LARGE AWARDS

Mrs. J. Calvert was awarded $2,000 and Miss B. Kiehl the sum of $2,500 last week for injuries sustained last July, when the bus in which they were riding was struck by a C.N.R. train in Stamford Township. The jury, under Justice McEvoy, awarded Annie Granskog $5,000, and Otto Saderling $3,500 for injuries they received in the same accident.

LAWYER SECURES BAIL

H. D. Petrie, Hamilton lawyer, was allowed bond by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward, at Chicago, April 5th, after he had spent more than a month in jail on charges of illegally entering the country.

Bond of $1,000 was allowed after government counsel informed the court that while Petrie had been ordered deported by the Department of Labor at Washington, they have not yet had opportunity to prepare an answer to the charges of writ of habeas corpus brought in Petrie's behalf, claiming he was being held in jail without authority.

SHORTAGE DISCOVERED

A shortage of $3,240.76 has been discovered in the account of the water bureau at Niagara Falls in the administration of J. Robert Perry, it was announced by William D. Robbins, city manager. Perry resigned as accountant in the department early this year.

The shortage was discovered, according to Robbins, by Eugene T. Creagh, city auditor.

Robbins said the company which bonded Perry had been notified, and that any action taken in the case would have to be instituted by the bonding concern.

TOWN ALMOST FLOODED

Torrential rains on Friday were within an ace of flooding the town of Dundas, and as it was, the lowering section along King, Baldwin and Dundas streets was practically inundated. King street at this point resembling a maelstrom of swirling, seething water.

The Dundas creek, above the abutment, near the Jones Bros. factory, rose level with the bank, constituting a high-water mark in Valley City history, and though no damage was done by the rain, it is said that flood water has never been so plentiful in a quarter of a century.

WHAT CHANCE AGAINST FIRE HAS A ROOF LIKE THIS?

Old roofs like this are rapidly becoming things of the past. Fireproof, permanent, Rib Roll roofs mean lower insurance rates, less upkeep trouble and give your building an attractive, up-to-date appearance.

MODERN BUILDING—for permanence, low-upkeep and appearance—sounds the death-knell of wooden roofs. The dangers of fire to the building itself, to other buildings and to human life is rapidly being banished by metal roofs of high quality.

RE-ROOF WITH RIB ROLL

The appearance of this roofing alone has sold thousands. Whenever a roof of this material is laid in any district, it immediately secures a preference, and others who are roofing any kind of building, whether it be barn, house, garage, shed or warehouse insist on Rib Roll. It is made to famous "Council Standard" specifications.

EASY TO LAY ON NEW ROOFS OR OVER OLD ROOFS

The cost of laying Rib Roll is lower than that of nearly all other types of roofing. Any man who is handy with a hammer can put it on. Its handsome appearance adds many dollars to the value of your property. Send ridge and rafter measurements of roof or roofs in question, for free estimate of cost.

A LITTLE BIT OF EVERYTHING

Dear Reader:
This column is to be known by the above title. In it will be recorded all the wise cracks of the week, and we invite our readers to contribute any bright sayings.

Good Evening!

Planted those spring onions yet?
Saturday some local men had nerve enough to put screen doors on the house.

The young man with the pearl tie pin and wrist watch says that a friend of his claims that dew does not injure the finish of new cars. I told him there had been lots due on some cars, but one doesn't really notice it.

For the Simple Reason Why—
Sally Short Skirts says that the reason she goes out so much at night is because she is afraid to stay alone.

Warning

Get in a ham or two! Blossom visitors will soon be with us.

Everybody Rattled

When that rat got into the switch at the pump house and put the electric power out of commission for five hours, Davey wasn't the only one rattled—'cause the telephone in his office sure was rattled, too.

The Hee-Haw
A winona reader says that away back in those never-to-be-forgotten days, Old Dobbin had faults, but he was never called second-hand the day after you got him.

Hard to Convince

A Grimsby Beach man says he won't believe spring is here until he sees ants crawling on the picnic tables.

Is Spring Here?

We have yet to see the boys playing marbles and the girls skipping.

'Twas Ever Thus

Now that Easter is over and spring is here, all that poor hubby will hear is, "We'll have to start house-cleaning any day now."

The Appreciative One

"A toast, fellows!" exclaimed the hobo, lifting his tomato can. "Here's to de holidays! Bless de hull t'ree hundred an' sixty-five of 'em."

Hole in the Stocking

Most of the girls at the ex-students' dance took off their shoes to join in the Cinderella dance—no doubt, those who did not care to enter had a reason.

A PRAYER

This I would make my prayer:
That no one's weight of care
Shall heavier be,
Because of me;
That one now weak and faint
Shall never make complaint
That I have flung the stone
Which caused his groan.

Lord, let it ne'er be said
That I have dared to tread
A heartless road,
And plied a goad

I'm never too tired to sleep now—

Rested nerves make all the difference.
Your doctor will tell you how chewing relieves nervous tension, how the beneficial cleansing action of Wrigley's refreshes the mouth and tones you up.

Upon a fellow back,
Or white or black,
Compelling helpless him
To run to serve my whim.

I would not come to power
For one brief hour
To rule and fright
To show my might;
If help I cannot give,
Humbly I choose to live,
I would not crush men down
To wear a crown.

THREE-YEAR-OLD GIRL SHOT BY BROTHER

Pl. His Jane Smith, aged 3, died within an hour Saturday, March 31st, after being shot by her brother, Richard, aged 7. The boy put the shot-gun back in its place in the cellar and said nothing about the shooting, police state.

W. Huntingford, milkman, opened the back door of the Smith home to find the little girl unconscious in a pool of blood. He called assistance, but the child died on the way to the hospital. It was thought she had fallen downstairs and received her injuries on jagged fragments of a broken milk bottle which lay near where she was found.

At the hospital doctors found buckshot. The body was x-rayed and it was discovered the whole abdomen was full of shot. The brother was questioned, but is said to have claimed that he knew nothing about the accident.

Then Dr. Davidson and Arnold Smith, father of the children, secured from him the admission that he had found the gun, called to the little girl, pointed it at her in play, and fired. To the police later the lad is said to have told the same story.

Coroner J. H. McGarry opened an inquest Saturday night and adjourned it until Thursday. The mother of the children is prostrate with grief. Mr.

Smith is president of Smith Brothers, construction company.

BARN IS BURNED

During last week's storm a Jay barn on William French's farm, Concession No. 3, Glanville, was struck by lightning and burned. The damage is estimated at about $1500. Mr. French's farm adjoins that of John Dickenson.

Milking was in progress when the barn took fire. The untiring efforts of Mr. French and his men, assisted by neighboring farmers, prevented the fire from spreading.

NARROW ESCAPE

Several Welland residents narrowly escaped a horrible death at the Black Horse corners, eight miles from here, during Friday night's storm, when nine telephone poles, loosened by the heavy rains, listed, the high tension wires being lowered to within a few feet of the Thorold-St. Catharines highway.

Previous to the listing of the poles, a truck of the Blenheim Haulage Company had passed by and lost a wheel a short distance beyond the Black Horse corners. The driver, Irvin Pearson, and a companion returned to the village for tools, and on their way back Mr. Pearson was struck on the forehead by one of the wires. Horribly burned, he was rushed to the Niagara Falls hospital, where he is not expected to recover.

In the meantime Fred Cowan, of Thorold Township, drove by, and in the inky blackness failed to see the low hanging wires. His car broke into flames when it came in contact with them and he, too, was burned, being rendered semi-conscious by the shock. A young lady companion with him was unhurt, but her screams attracted the attention of Carl Crawford, who was driving along the highway with six passengers in his car. He leaped from his seat and a glance showed him what had happened. Clad as he was in a leather jacket and rubber boots, he grasped the wires and hurled them to the side of the road. Then he ran to the flaming Cowan car, and although badly burned by his daring deed, managed to drag Mr. Cowan to safety. The auto was practically destroyed. Both men were later given treatment.

Here and There

For the first time in history, an airplane has been carrying furs from the wilds of Northern Manitoba to the Winnipeg market. Hock Kenyon, aviator, left Cranberry Portage for Bockel settlement recently, taking Del Symonds, veteran trader, whose aim was to take all competitors who take a month to travel by dog team.

During 1928 between 5,800 and 5,700 Prince Edward Island furs have been shipped abroad, an increase over the 4,200 shipped the preceding year. These have been handled without a single known casualty. Since the middle of October furs have been shipped to Norway, Sweden, Scotland, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Bavaria, Finland, France, Holland, Switzerland and Japan.

Forty-two years of service with the Canadian Pacific Railway without having broken any of the company's rules or otherwise earned a mark against himself is the unique record held by Arthur W. Savage, pensioner. Mr. Savage, who is well known throughout the Eastern Townships, fired the train that laid the first steel on the line between Sherbrooke and Parnham.

The old English Yuletide Festival held recently at the Empress Hotel in Victoria, B.C., proved to be one of the most popular events of last year. Carols and yuletide music were rendered, the ancient "Chester Mysteries" staged, and Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" was produced. The festival culminated in a ball at which some seven hundred persons attended. It is believed that plans are already being made for a larger and better celebration next year.

A change in telephone numbers has drawn attention to the train inquiry office in the great Windsor Street Station of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Montreal. The girls who are on duty there handle each on an average of 200 calls an hour, and as many as 200 an hour during rush times. They carry most of the information in their heads and seldom have to refer to a time-table. They are asked queer questions sometimes. Recently someone asked, "When does the afternoon begin," and the old timer turned up, "What time does the four o'clock train leave."

Dr. Knechtel, a farmer residing about four miles east of Souris, Manitoba, has about 5,000 bushels of Reward wheat which he is going to ship out all over Western Canada in two-bushel lots, as soon as the list of addresses arrives from Ottawa—for the project is under the supervision of the Dominion Government. As is pretty generally known, Reward wheat matures about a week earlier than Marquis and, for this reason, can be grown further north. This early ripening means, roughly, that a new strip of country 75 by 1,000 miles, is made available for wheat growing.

FOUR HUNGARY MAIDENS

Four New Canadians from Hungary whose native dances delighted thousands in attendance at the Regina Festival. From whatever viewpoint it is to be judged, the Great West Canadian Festival recently brought to a conclusion at Regina, was a success. In attendance it eclipsed its forerunner at Winnipeg last year. Its handicraft exhibit covered a wider range, a more comprehensive representation of the peoples of the West had been arranged for and, in the words of J. M. Gibbon, sponsor of the festival, "Saskatchewan has proved that within its borders is the foundation of an art upon which will be built a structure of national culture finer than that of any other nation on earth." Over a hundred folk-dancers interpreted the dances of many racial groups. Folk-singers numbered over one hundred and sixty. Handicrafts struck response from thousands and it is safe to say that next year's festival, which is already being planned, will receive still greater support and present a folk-pagant to be unequalled on the continent. The festivals have been arranged under the auspices of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

PALLISER AND EMPRESS EXTENSIONS

Over the signature of E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has come the announcement that large extensions are to be made to the Palliser Hotel at Calgary and the Empress Hotel at Vancouver and that the additional accommodation will be ready for occupancy before the peak of the present years tourist traffic. This is good news, not only to the two cities more directly concerned where a total of more than four million dollars will be spent in the work, but to a vast legion in all corners of the earth to whom the Canadian West is a lodestone.

When Calgary read of the four additional floors which will add 250 rooms with bath to the city's accommodation it thought of Stampede week, and the thousands who pour in from all points of the compass, clamoring for accommodation and joining the mail at Cowboys, Indians and old-timers who for one week drop back to the color, romance, gaiety and sport of the early 80's.

Calgary is a steadily progressive city. Its trade and commerce continue to expand. It is a great city of the plains and the Palliser will be as spacious and beautiful as is fitting to city and the time.

The "Empress" addition of 376 rooms with bath shown above will also be appreciated by an ever increasing number to whom the quiet position of the Pacific coast holds unusual appeal. The new wing will be a beautiful structure carrying out the chateau type of architecture exemplified by the old building. When, however, its walls become ivy clad and its stone lines and traceries are covered by the foliage it will lose nothing and fit still more with the background of holly hedges and box-wood trimmings. When these two extensions are completed, Canadians may take still more pride in a chain of Canadian owned and operated hotels which extend from coast to coast and in point of view of service, comfort and appointments is second to none in the world.

The West Lincoln Branch of the Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League, will hold a church parade next Sunday afternoon. Members of the Legion and all ex-service men are asked to meet at the armories at 2 p.m., and parade to the Anglican church where Major Rev. Gore M. Barrow will deliver an address.

Word has been received from headquarters, that B. Company, Lincoln and Welland regiment, will proceed to camp at Niagara-on-the-Lake on June 21 for twelve days. Any men wishing to go should get in touch with Major W. W. Johnson, D.S.O., M.C., officer commanding B. company.

A representative of the Great Lakes Highway association was in town on Saturday arranging for the town's display in the association booklet which will be issued in the near future. It is expected that linking up with this organization will greatly increase the tourist business during the coming season.

Real summer prevailed here over the week-end. On the shady side of Main street the thermometer registered 83 degrees on Saturday afternoon. Overcoats were thrown to the discard and summer clothing rooted out. A few straw hats made their appearance but how long they will remain is problematical. Ice cream was in great demand at the restaurants. Traffic was extremely heavy for this time of the year. Sunday was somewhat cooler, the thermometer showing 76 in the shade during the afternoon.

Trinity United Church Young People's Society held their missionary meeting Monday evening. Owing to the absence of both the president and vice-president, Mr. Wood occupied the chair. Miss Madeline Blanchard read the Scripture lesson. Miss Phyllis Tuck gave a very amusing recitation. The topic for the evening was "Medico's Missions in Canada." Short accounts about this work were read by the following girls: Marion Marsh, Olive Fawcett, Ina Hildreth, Doris Tuck, Florence Love, Freda Meredith and Betty Wood.

It was interesting to see how motor car drivers slowed down when they saw Chief Wentworth on traffic duty on Main street Sunday. Quite frequently Main street is used as more or less of a speedway. On account of his many duties, the chief is unable to be there constantly. The suggestion has been made that a stop-sign should be installed on Main street at the corner of Depot street.

Why Gum-Dipping

Increases Tire Life

A tire in use is being constantly bent backwards and forwards by road action. Such movement generates friction and heat that has a deteriorating effect unless the tire is built to withstand it.

In the carcass of a Gum-Dipped tire there is less friction to generate heat because Gum-Dipping puts a coating of new live rubber around each separate cord that keeps it from rubbing against the cords that lie next to it. It stays cooler and therefore lasts longer.

Your local Firestone Dealer will gladly advise you on your tire problems. See him today.

Three fish hatcheries will soon be in operation in Alberta, those at Banff and Waterton Lake being supplemented by one at Edmonton.

Each can handle 1,000,000 fry a season. These are not necessarily "fried fish."

A twenty dollar gold piece that was insured for a thousand dollars and that sold for twelve hundred, was recently shipped by Canadian Pacific Express. The coin was one of seven struck at the time of the gold rush. It being thought that a mint could be operated on the spot. This proved uneconomical, however, and after seven pieces had been issued, the project was abandoned. The coin in question was shipped by the S.S. Montclair to a numismatist in England.

Over 97% of the total investments of the Canadian Pacific Railway and all its varied enterprises are in Canada.

Most fruits, except those indigenous to the tropics, or sub-tropics, are now grown in British Columbia.

Apples, apricots, cherries, peaches, plums, prunes, nectarines, figs, loganberries, raspberries, strawberries, grapes, almonds and other like hardy fruits and nuts are now grown commercially. Apples have been grown for 17 years, rising in volume of production from 229,000 to 3,000,000 bushels.

With 99 arrivals scheduled at the Port of Montreal and Quebec during the 1929 season, the Canadian Pacific sets up a new record for one line sailing its ships via the St. Lawrence route. There will be 74 arrivals and departures at Montreal and 25 at Quebec, the season opening with the arrival on April 26th of the Montclair and the Duchess of York. The latter will be on her maiden voyage of the St. Lawrence. The first arrival at Quebec will be the Empress of Scotland May 4th, after a winter of cruising in the Mediterranean.

One little pig went to market; and low and behold there were eight little pigs when the shipment arrived. It was a sow, and on route seven little pigs were born. Whether the shipper or the express company should pay the fares of the seven extra and unexpected pigs is a matter that has not been decided yet.

Thirty thousand tons of railway material—trucks and steel framing for box cars—will shortly leave Vancouver for the Orient, as equipment for the Trans-Siberian Railway. The order for this material was placed thirteen years ago, but delivery was halted with the outbreak of the Russian Revolution, and the equipment held in the Canadian Pacific Railway's yards at Coquitlam until conditions for delivery were more favorable.

Vancouver's growth since its incorporation in 1886 is revealed by the official estimate of the population of the new city by the assessment commission which places it at 225,153 for the city proper. A reliable but unofficial estimate of its population of Greater Vancouver is 255,000 exclusive of New Westminster. Greater Vancouver includes the City of North Vancouver, the district of North Vancouver and the municipalities of Burnaby and West Vancouver. Greater Vancouver and New Westminster have a population of about 300,000, or about half the population of the entire province.

HORTICULTURE

Now that spring has arrived, doors are thrown open wide to let the fresh, pungent tang of the air penetrate to every stuffy old corner in the much-lived-in house through the long winter. One joyfully runs out of doors and hunts around in the forgotten flower beds for the green shoots of the earliest blooms. It seems impossible to stay indoors when the sun is shining so warmly. As one walks around past the homes where the colors vie with one another in their beauty in the banks of lovely flowers, it is pleasant to know one lives here and is able to enjoy each season as it comes with its own special showing of delicate flowers.

Grimsby has a horticultural society to which many lovers of flowers belong, and it is very worthy of support. It has been instrumental in encouraging citizens to beautify the surroundings of their homes with flowers and shrubs. Many thousands of tourists constantly pass, and hundreds of them are sightseers who are quick to see the beauty of the landscape, so that anything done to make the town more attractive will help to create a favorable impression of the community.

One of the loveliest spots in Grimsby is the stream, with its rocky border winding so gracefully down through the town. Trees are dotted picturesquely here and there, and as one slowly walks across the bridge the imagination runs along in fancy, visualizing just how beautiful this bit of scenery could be made if the Town Council or some beauty-loving moneyed person would transform it into a park. The possibilities in horticulture could be revealed here to perfection if this one place were cultivated and developed to its fullest extent. Surely one could not dream of a prettier place to live than Grimsby.—M.A.B.

WITH THE WOMEN'S SOCIETIES

I.O.D.E.

The literary meeting of I.O.D.E. was held Monday, April 8th, in Masonic Hall. A most interesting programme was given and much enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. H. S. Graham gave a most delightful paper on Irish Lyrics, and was enjoyed by all present. Miss Margaret Stewart, accompanied by her sister, Miss Isabel, rendered several Irish songs in her sweet voice.

Miss Lees, Education Secretary of I.O.D.E., read a paper on life and work of Bernard Shaw bringing character and writings out most clearly. Miss Ormiston, who needs no introduction to Grimsby for musical talent, was heard to advantage in her piano selections of Irish music. Four young ladies of the High School gave a very pretty Irish dance. The meeting closed with singing on National Anthem.

The I.O.D.E. bridge club will meet Monday, April 22nd, at the home of Mrs. Wolfenden. There being five Mondays in April, next Monday, April 15th, will be an off day for I.O.D.E.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The monthly meeting of Women's Institute will be held on Tuesday, April 16th, at the home of Mrs. Sangster. Roll call answered with helpful ideas for Mondays and Saturdays.

The home nursing class, which was held by Women's Institute, came to a most successful finish. Miss McAlpine, the nurse, was much pleased with the work accomplished and stated that out of a class of thirty-six, seventeen finished with an average between 75 and 100 per cent. Certificates, sent by Red Cross headquarters, will be presented to the ladies next Tuesday at the regular Women's Institute meeting.

COOKERY CORNER

LIVER STEW

Cut in small slices pig's liver, skirts and heart. Wash in several waters and place in roast pan. Next peel and slice onions enough to cover. Season with sage, pepper and salt. Sprinkle with flour. Dot with bits of dripping. Add water to nearly cover and bake (without a lid) in oven 1½ hours or until tender, stirring occasionally. Serve hot.

SUPPER DISH SALMON AND CORN

Remove bones from 1 large tin of salmon, flake and add salt and pepper, 1 or 2 eggs well beaten, ¼ cup or more milk, 4 or 5 biscuits rolled. Do not have mixture too thick as it thickens considerably while cooking. Pour into a buttered baking dish and cover with a can of corn (or peas) to which has been added a pint of milk and thickened with corn starch or flour. Bake in a moderate oven.

DANDELION SALAD

Gather young fresh shoots of dandelion, wash well in many waters. Then cut up 3 or 4 slices of fat bacon, put in frying pan and render out most of the fat. While it is hot add ¼ cup vinegar, add a little water if very strong, sugar, salt and pepper to taste, and when hot add the dandelion after removing from fire. Turn it over until well mixed, then put in a bowl and lay over the top slice of hard-boiled egg.

TASTY MEAT MOULD

(By Mrs. Aylmer Macpherson)
Garnish a glass baking dish with thin slices of hard-boiled egg whites and thin slices of green sweet peppers. Arrange in the pan layers of cooked veal, sliced, hard-boiled eggs, sliced ham and thin slices of green pepper. Soak one tablespoon of granulated gelatine in ¼ cup cold water. Dissolve in 1½ cups well-seasoned hot veal stock. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Strain and pour over the contents of the baking dish. Let stand until firm and cold. Cut in thin slices for serving. Serve with scalloped potatoes and baked tomatoes.

HAVE YOU THESE MARKS?

If you are well-bred you will come up to the following requirements:
You will be kind.
You will try to make others happy.
You will never indulge in ill-natured gossip.

You will never forget the respect due to age.
You will not swagger or boast of your achievements.
You will never measure your civility by people's bank accounts.
You will be scrupulous in your regard for the rights of others.

You will not forget engagements, promises or obligations.

You will never make fun of others.
You will never cause another pain if you can help it.

You will be as agreeable to your social inferiors as to your equals and superiors.

You will not have two sets of manners—one for company and one for home use.

Here are a dozen rules of conduct which make for ideal life. For what does good breeding signify but an exemplary code of living?

He who is "well-bred" does not take into consideration his bank account, his family, his social position. Good breeding is a higher stamp which transcends them all. Good breeding is a moral force which cannot be measured in terms of bank accounts and lineal descents.

OUR WEEKLY STORY

ALIAS MISTER TYLER

(By Louise Peple Armstrong)

Old Miss Nancy Ellett had become so imprinted in the Day Nursery she had started in the Railroad District with some of the money left by her father, that she had forgotten Romance—as Dolly Winston had hoped she would. It was now some months since she had discovered her mother's old seamstress had advertised for a husband and was about to be taken in by an unscrupulous fortune hunter. Dolly felt she had nipped the scheme of the unknown Mr. Adam Tyler in the bud when she had induced Miss Nancy to write him that she would give her money to charity. His letters had ceased abruptly, and it had not been for the many demands the Day Nursery made on her time, the poor woman might have been miserable. In taking care of the babies of the poor, Miss Nancy's days were filled to overflowing. The unknown suitor drifted into the background of her thoughts, and finally she had ceased to speak of him at all.

"I'm so glad she's gotten over that foolishness," Dolly Winston told her husband, a young lawyer who guarded Miss Nancy's finances as zealously as his little wife tried to guard her happiness.

"Don't be too sure," Tom advised, "about any woman getting over a foolish idea. At any time they are likely to fly off the handle and—"

"Really?" asked Dolly in scathing tones. "And when can men be depended upon to act reasonably? How about this Mr. Adam Tyler, for instance, who caused all the trouble from the start—deliberately trying to hoodwink poor old Nancy, and marry her for her money. Think of him, Tom, and don't talk about women!"

Tom hid his grin behind the morning paper. He could not help teasing Dolly. "Who knows but what he might be a fine fellow after all?" he speculated. "Perhaps she's just as lonely—just as—"

"Don't be foolish," Dolly snapped. "It's like you to take up for him."

Dolly went down to the Day Nursery about ten o'clock that morning to gather up the laundry. It was one of her self-appointed tasks, and she was conscientious about doing it for Miss Nancy had so much on her hands spending the rest of the day here. Dolly was becoming more and more engrossed, too, in this branch of organized charity, realizing its possibilities. She liked to see the thin, undernourished little ones thrive and

YOUR EYES and Our Service

Optometry is unlike any other profession in that so large a percentage of the public require an eye service without being aware of the fact.

Please note that word service. One of the greatest changes that has taken place in Optometry is in the growing practice of referring to the work of the Optometrist as service. The Optometrist encourages the use of this term, as the greatest value he renders his patients is determining what errors of vision exist and how they may be corrected. And these duties are properly referred to as service.

Lightning Destroys

Valuable Farm Buildings

ONE of the times when a man realizes the majesty and power of the universe and his own insignificance and helplessness is when a terrific thunderstorm breaks and the wind and hail lash the trees, and the blinding lightning flashes, each with its own terrific thunder crash, are stabbing at trees and buildings all around. Even people with steady nerves are likely to quake at a heavy stroke close by and to wonder how much closer the next one will be.

YOUR buildings may be next. Late some night YOU may be awakened by the rending crash of a Lightning Bolt blasting its flaming course thru YOUR buildings. Why take such an unnecessary risk?

Make your buildings safe from the most severe electrical storms by equipping with the Shinn-Flat System of Lightning Protection.

PRICE NOT THE ONLY CONSIDERATION

IF in buying an article of any kind, whether it be a house and lot or a paper of pins, the price is not the only thing to be considered by any means. You are not in the habit of going into a store when you want to buy a suit of clothes and saying to the storekeeper, "Give me the cheapest suit of clothes you have in the house." You want the best suit of clothes you can get for the price you pay for it, but you don't usually want the cheapest thing you can find. This does not only apply to clothes, but to all lines of general merchandise. What is there to justify anyone in such a belief? The mere fact that you buy a suit of clothes for $10.00 does not mean that you are saving money. Your own merchant can get you the same suit, and even better values, if you give him the opportunity. It is not the price you pay that determines whether you are getting a bargain or not. It is the quality of goods that you get for your money that counts. The next time you think about buying anything outside of your own community, if you ever do think of such a thing, go first to your home merchant and ask to see the article or articles which you are thinking of buying. It is a courtesy you owe your community as well as merchant, and it always pays.

Our Weekly Story

grow rosy and chubby with good care, like flowers that are refreshed by gentle rain.

"There's a gentleman been here to see the place, M'am," said Milly, one of the colored girls who helped there. He asked if this was Miss Ellett's home for children. He seemed very much interested. He asked about the expenses."

Dolly's heart beat high; she had heard tales of millionaires who traveled incognito about the country, dropping into charitable institutions, and often making generous gifts. With an endowment of $15,000 or $20,000 now, they might have the new building, scientifically perfect, of which she was beginning to dream.

"Did he say he'd be back, Milly?" "Did you ask him to wait?" she asked the girl on whom she and Nancy were coming to depend on more and more in emergencies.

"He said he must see something of the town," Milly replied. "He said it had been years since he was here."

Dolly's spirits were somewhat dashed. Maybe he was not a millionaire after all. She tried to recollect someone who had left town years ago, and had accumulated a fortune—but she could think of no one.

Half an hour later, as Dolly had finished counting the laundry and tying it in packages to take away in the car, Miss Nancy Ellett came in, her eyes shining.

"What do you suppose?" Nancy cried. "I've a letter from Mr. Tyler!"

Dolly gasped. "That man? Oh, Miss Nancy."

"He's been ill, and business has kept him from writing before. It really is beautiful, the way he expresses himself. Let me read you his letter, Dolly. And he asks about the Day Nursery—I'd written him about it—about how much money I've put into it. But see, he writes on a typewriter. Dolly!"

A shadow crossed Miss Nancy's eager old face. "I've always considered it rather crude for a gentleman to write a lady on the typewriter—but then he's a busy man."

And she read the letter—her voice heightened with emotion.

"So he's been thinking of coming to Camden soon?" Dolly asked.

"He just hints that he might come when he can leave his business."

Dolly sniffed scornfully, but hid her disgust from her old friend.

The morning routine finished, Miss Nancy took charge of the nursery for the remainder of the day, and Dolly went home. She was so upset over the catastrophe of Mr. Tyler's renewed suit she forgot about the strange visitor.

On the following morning, however, she arrived early at the nursery and found him there. Milly, rather flustered by having had to receive him, introduced them "Missus Winston, this is the gentleman who inquired about the work, here, and—"

"Oh, I'm glad you came back," Dolly cried. It's rather a pleasure to have an out-of-town visitor appreciate what we're trying to do. You must let me show you about—no trouble at all, I assure you!"

He was an elderly, quiet-looking man. His clothes were neat and conservative in cut and color. And there was something in his thin, aristocratic face which inspired confidence. She knew he was the real thing—there was something assured in his mild manner. So she carefully explained the nursery in detail, showed him the sunny sleeping room with its rows of white cots, the play-room with its fringe of Maxfield Parrish pictures and its scattered toys upon the scrubbed pine floors, the airy, clean kitchen with its shining cooking utensils and rows of sterilized bottles on the spotless enamel-topped tables. They had begun in a small way, she explained, and it had only been possible because of the generosity of her dear old friend, Miss Nancy Ellett, who was a darling.

"Tell me about her," the stranger said, eagerly.

She told him of Miss Nancy's early struggle, of her miserly old father, and of the unexpected legacy which at his death had come to her. A pity, Dolly said, that Miss Nancy could not have enjoyed it while she was young—but being old she was now enjoying it in a different—and perhaps a better—way.

"Just what I'm trying to do," the stranger said, in a queer, strained tone. "I too was miserably poor when a young man. Too poor to ask the girl I loved to marry me. So I went away. And in the town where I was born and lived twenty years no one remembers me. Well, I've made money, not a great deal, but surely enough to be happy on. I didn't come back, think I she had married—and I didn't care to see her married. One day, in the northern city where I live I met a fellow who thought me an easy mark, because I was interested in charitable work, and he touched me for a loan. I realized he was a dead beat, but after all I gave him the money. He told me a story of being engaged to a wealthy old maid, and he showed me letters he had received from her. Here the stranger hesitated and looked at Dolly timidly. "The letters were from my old sweetheart," he finally said. "I—I bought them from him, and I answered the last—and signed his name. I wrote on the typewriter and copied his signature, you see."

"And—did she reply?" asked Dolly breathlessly.

The stranger nodded. "I know she didn't realize what she was doing. She was only trying to buy Romance. So many of us, poor fools, are always trying to do it too. I made up my mind then to come back to Camden as—"

Mr. Adam Tyler," Dolly exclaimed. A startled cry from the doorway—Miss Nancy had arrived.

"Is—it really Mr. Tyler, Dolly?" she cried, and Dolly saw her face grow white and a scared expression creep in her eyes.

"Nancy!" the stranger cried, and hastened to her side, taking her trembling hands into his own.

Dolly saw Miss Nancy start saw her mild blue eyes lose their terror and grow wide with astonishment.

"Oh, William—William Gray! And you called yourself Mr. Adam Tyler. How clever of you—just like a story in a book! And to come back—after all these years!"

"I should have come—long ago, Nancy," Dolly heard Mr. Gray, alias Mr. Tyler, saying tenderly. "You need someone to look after you—for even this day nursery is not enough to keep you out of trouble!"

And passing quietly through the door with a happy, confident smile, Dolly Winston left the wretched pair, who at the end of the day had actually found Romance.

The stranger nodded. "I know she didn't realize what she was doing. She was only trying to buy Romance. So many of us, poor fools, are always trying to do it too. I made up my mind then to come back to Camden as—"
